

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Danielson and practically all the towns of Millinery in going on daylight saving Sunday morning at 2 a. m. In Danielson, a portion of the plan will be general and will be observed by manufacturing concerns, business houses, banks and schools. Just along this line on the part of the borough will be followed in some. If not all, the villages of the town, though not what some of the village will do was not easily outlined Thursday afternoon.

If you are a resident of Danielson, however, your clock and watches at four o'clock any time Sunday night and their hands set to be to wake up the hour of day that you have taken away from yourself and put away for early sleeping until next October when you can withdraw it and enjoy it as a belated blessing.

Action in favor of daylight saving has been taken by the voters and court of burgesses after conference with business men, manufacturers and town officials. It was definitely stated Thursday afternoon that the Connecticut Mills company, the Goodyear Mills, the Arrowhead Woolen company, the Killingly Woollen company would support legislation Monday on a daylight saving bill, starting work at four o'clock each morning that at present, it was stated that in all probability the Connecticut Mills would adopt the daylight saving schedule. The Larkin Wood company is another concern that will support the new schedule.

Schools and churches also will open an hour earlier than at present, beginning Monday. The schools were included so as to save the homewives the necessity of serving two sets of meals at the noon hour—one for the workers and one for the pupils coming home to lunch at different hours.

Danielson passed up the daylight saving program last year and in various ways its people were subjected to various inconveniences. This year the sentiment seems to favor the daylight saving plan, so after conference that have lasted through the week Warden W. A. Burrows said Thursday morning that the borough officials had decided to announce a daylight saving bill, effective Sunday, at 2 a. m.

Unable to speak sufficient English to get along in court without the aid of an interpreter, a Goodyear woman, whose name appears in the warrant as Frances Sullivan, was before Judge W. Fenner Woodworth in the town court Thursday morning and pleaded guilty to regulation. A fine of $25 and costs was assessed against her and her bill in the court was $24.25, which she paid. She was represented by Attorney Charles L. Torrey of Putnam.

There was a kind of Gallicia in the tonal inflections of "Mrs. Sullivan's" voice as she laboriously explained some of the details leading up to her appearance in court. Constable Jesse B. Child of Goodyear did not just like the idea of having the still so near at hand and there were some words about the matter and eventually Constable Child was told about the situation.

When he appeared upon the scene Mrs. Sullivan asked the still and ran to the back of the building. Quicker than a flash, she was nearly up to her arm pits, and attempted to send the still to the bottom. She was not successful in this move and the still was set, due as she afterwards brokenly explained, to the fact that "he won't float—stay on top all the time," all of which may be taken as indicating that the pesky thing could not be induced to sink, anyway not on such short notice as was required of it in the quick moving action.

So the still and Frances, who used to have an increasing collection of it, y's and g's in the name that now appears as Sullivan when she lived in Putnam, where she owns property, were both in court Thursday morning and Frances did not long delay in pleading guilty to regulation.

P. S. Frances has returned to Goodyear. Coupons of the Second Liberty loan maturing May 15th will draw interest from May 1 if deposited in the saving department of the Windham County National bank on or before May 15th—adv.

Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, a funeral service for Mrs. Clara G. Young, wife of C. C. Young, was conducted at the Young home on Reynolds street by Rev. Albert Jenson of St. Alban's church. The service was attended by relatives and many friends. Burial was in Westfield cemetery. The bearers were Judge Milton A. Shumway, Alfred I. Reed, Frederic O. Armstrong, E. H. Keach, John Ashworth and William P. Perkins. A F. Wood was the funeral director. There were beautiful floral pieces.

The fire department was called out by an alarm from Box 32 Thursday afternoon at 2:25, for a fire on the roof of a barn at the Ingalls property on Spring street. The fire was quickly extinguished before it had really got a start and did practical no damage. On account of the high wind prevailing at the time, the fire looked dangerous at its inception. Both

Due to the fact that the New Haven road is changing the running time of its passenger trains next Sunday, moving the arrival time in Danielson about an hour ahead of the present schedule. Postmaster Raymond Allen will put the local postoffice on a daylight saving basis next Sunday. The office will open at 7:20 a. m. and remain open until 7:20 p. m. the evening closing hour being the same as at present.

At tonight's (Friday's) typewriting contest between teams representing Killingly High school and Putnam High school in the assembly hall of the local school the Killingly team will be made up of Aurea Fordier, Leo Viana, Adam, Lucile, Doreen, Clinton Stevens, seniors; Eloise Babson, Irma Perry, Mary Elliott, Joseph Santrucci, Mildred Burns, Juniors.

Announcement is made of the gift by former President Plavet S. Luther, of Trinity college, of 17 acres of land on the Hampton road to the Brooklyn Public library. The tract is chiefly woodland and represents a generous gift to the library. Mr. Luther, a Brooklyn man and one of its most distinguished citizens of the past two generations is now a resident of Pasadena, Cal. In a letter relative to his gift Mr. Luther calls attention to the fact that there is an outcropping of stone on the tract he has given that he suggests appears to be suitable for building purposes.

Various further announcements relative to the adoption of daylight saving in Danielson, to conform with the official position of the borough are to be looked for from various sources today and tomorrow. A question that frequently heard during Thursday was as to whether the churches would hold next Sunday's services on daylight saving time or on standard time. The Congregational, Methodist and Baptist churches are to hold union services next Sunday. Announcement likely will be made today as to whether the services will be held on the schedule of daylight saving time or on standard time.

Danielson has had a visitation from a stranger selling shoes "direct from the factory." All of which is another good argument in favor of trading at home.

Prof. H. Augustine Smith, professor of religious education at Boston university, will speak at the Union service Sunday, in the morning at the Baptist church and in the afternoon at the Methodist church and in the evening at the presentation of the pageant, Light of the World at the Congregational church.

Members of Killingly grange are arranging for May basket lunch and whisky on the grounds of New London on Thursday with friends in Danielson on Thursday.

Rev. W. B. Williams has a fishing trip planned for the Boy Scouts for May 2 at Old Killingly pond.

Vincent Adams has returned to his home in Attawapung after visiting with his daughter, who is ill in New Jersey.

Delegates who recently attended the state assembly of Rebekah lodges are to report at this evening's meeting of Doreen Rebekah lodge.

To all a rash order, the plant of the Central Worsted company is running overtime, looms working until 9 p. m. William H. Danielson, having returned from Florida, has opened his house in Brooklyn.

To those who feel that April has been an unusually cold month, it may be a consolation to reproduce Judge J. C. Tucker's assertion that as an East Killingly resident all his life, he remembers seeing highways of this town so blocked with snow on three different occasions during April, within a period of 60 years that they had to be broken out. On one occasion a heavy snowstorm came on April 21.

Barl Wilbur showed one of the finest trout brought in recently. The fish weighed three-quarters of a pound.

The difference between see and saw is in tense.

PUTNAM

Tomorrow (Saturday) a delegation of members of Elizabeth Porter Putnam chapter, D. A. R., will go to Eastford on an annual pilgrimage to the home of Sarah Bowditch Bradway, who will be observing the 14th anniversary of her birth. Mrs. Bradway is a real daughter of the Revolution, in which her father served under General Israel Putnam. Her father was Allen Bowditch and of a family identified for generations with this section of New England. Her husband, William Bradway, died for many years, also came from Revolutionary stock.

For years on her birthday members of Elizabeth Porter Putnam chapter, D. A. R., of this city have made it a point to visit Mrs. Bradway, said to be the only real daughter of the Revolution living in Connecticut. These visitations have become almost a rite during the past few years, especially since Mrs. Bradway attained her 14th anniversary. Delegations of the D. A. R. from this city always have found Mrs. Bradway surprisingly alert and keen and have delighted in the homes they have spent with this wonderful woman.

During the past year Mrs. Bradway is said to have failed somewhat. Some of her faculties have become somewhat impaired, but tomorrow the visitors from this city will find a still exceedingly interesting person who will be glad to welcome them and again spend some happy hours in their company.

There will be many remembrances for Mrs. Bradway on her 14th birthday, and all of Windham county will extend congratulations to one who has lived such a wonderful life. Mrs. Bradway has two children, fourteen grandchildren, fifteen great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

Property taxes are not coming in so rapidly this spring as has been the rule in other recent years. Attorney Ernest C. Morse, collector for the town of Putnam,
